

Welcome to Class

We'll start today's state video after the bell.

Today's state: Georgia

Remember: No food or drink in class

North and South

- North favors public institutions and working for the "good of everyone" which sometimes means using national power.
- South favors more individual and state's rights and doesn't care for the national government as a whole.

Assignment

- Review the Supreme Court cases in the hand outs
- On your own paper, answer the 5 questions (next slide) about your case
- You'll have, roughly, 15 minutes to read each case and answer the 5 questions.
- You may discuss with your groups, but it is an individual assignment. Each person will turn in their own paper.
- Use FULL AND COMPLETE answers.

Assignment

- What is the name of your case?
- Which side would the North have sided with? Why?
- Which side would the South have sided with? Why?
- Which side would you side with? Why?
- Which side do you think won? why?

Results

Underlined side won

- Dartmouth v. Woodward
- McCullough v. Maryland
- Gibbons v. Ogden

What does that say about how power was shifting in the country?

Nationalism
